CHRB NEWS RELEASE

AUGUST 23, 2002

SECURITY ENHANCED FOR PACIFIC CLASSIC

DEL MAR, CA – California Horse Racing Board investigators and racetrack personnel will be providing enhanced security Sunday for the $1 million Pacific Classic in order to ensure the highest integrity for the most important race of the meet.

In addition to confidential investigative tactics, the CHRB will post security personnel at the stall of every horse entered to run in the Classic beginning the morning of the race. With 14 horses entered to run, this will require the Del Mar Thoroughbred Club to provide security personnel to work with CHRB investigators.

CHRB investigators have been providing additional security for all major races in California.

“The CHRB continues to enhance its investigatory work in order to ensure that all races are run on a level playing field,” said CHRB Vice Chairman Roger Licht. “We are constantly attempting to improve our technique, so that illegal activities can be stopped before a race.”
